

Globalance Zukunftbeweger Focused Fund

Positive Impulses from Geopolitical Easing

Financial markets showed a marked recovery in May after the United States and China agreed on a temporary reduction of existing tariffs. The prospect of de-escalation in the trade conflict provided a tailwind for the stock markets. In addition, the unexpectedly withdrawn threat of punitive tariffs against the EU further boosted market sentiment. In this environment, the Globalance Zukunftbeweger Focused Fund once again delivered a strong performance – particularly due to its focus on forward-looking megatrends such as urbanization and digitalization. Notable gains were achieved by Nextracker (a provider of solar tracking systems and associated software) and First Solar (a leading manufacturer of thin-film solar modules), both of which posted significant price increases. Overall, the fund was well-positioned in May, especially due to its clear focus on long-term, socially relevant themes with high innovation potential.
